He related his struggles between duty to his boss and duty to the public, his family and himself during the year preceding the bursting of his institutions last November that carried other banks down into the abyss.

In his anguish, he said, he pleaded with Rogers Caldwell, president of the institutions, to save the sliding banking houses and finally last March he laid his resignation before him. Caldwell, persuaded him to stay, he said, and he was at his desk to the end.

Carter was on the stand both in the morning and afternoon, during which he charged his superiors with permitting the two institutions to go to destruction, "by loose" and "irregular" business practices. He a ributed part of the fall to Colonel Luke Lea, who was associated with Caldwell & Company in newspaper enterprises in Memphis and Knoxville. In May, 1930, he said he urged Rogers Caldwell to sever his business connections with Colonel Lea.

On the trust of the Guaranty Bank & Trust Co., of Alexandria, La., he said they had Inter-Southern stock and Tennessee Products common after they had agreed to have municipal bonds satisfactory to the Canal Bank & Trust Co.

The cashier said he had been compelled to report a list of collateral they did not have pledged on the Owensboro, Ky., trust, and there have been sundry failures to notify authorities of collateral substitutions.

He also complained of the practice the latter part of 1929 of hypothecating customers' collateral but said the greater part of this evil had been corrected, but that on the date of the last March letter they still had 4,000 shares of Missouri State Life Insurance Company stock hypothecated.

Against stubborn resistance, they drove the enemy from the wood June 25.

Meanwhile, the regular brigade continued its attacks intermittently, and July 1, with great dash, captured Vaux and the Bois de la Roche. The operations of the division in this vicinity were practically at an end when the new lines were stabilized on the high ground captured from the enemy. The casualties in the division were about 9,500. More than 1,600 prisoners were captured from the enemy. The gains by the second division were won with little aid on either flank by the French units, which were still in poor shape, and were made against an enemy determined to crush this early American effort. The successes of this division and of the first at Cantigny and third on the Marne, following as they did the crisis of May 27, were loudly acclaimed by the French, and for the time being had a very stimulating effect upon French morale.

that I suggested to General Petain we should assemble a number of American divisions in the Chateau Thierry sector. I had already proposed to Foch that they should be utilized in a counter-attack against the salient.

It was obvious that a blow at the enemy's line south of Soissons, if successful, would compel him to retire. It would have the effect of threatening his rear so far as that part of his force was concerned. I was very eager that our troops should be allowed to undertake such an attack.

Leaving the suggestion with Gen-Italy by rail to show the people Americans were actually there. More-over, he wanted them to be other than

I then motored to General Foch's headquarters at Bombon. We considered my proposal to form an American corps near Chateau Thierry, to which he readily agreed. He spoke especially of the fine work of our troops.

After a delay of about a month, and troops. After a delay of about a month, and acting under instructions from Washintong, I directed that the advance regiment of the 83d division, which had recently arrived, should go to troops.

I asked how a German drive which I asked how a German drive which threatened or perhaps captured Paris would affect the armies and the peo-ple. His reply was almost word for word like M. Clemenceau's. They had evidently discussed the possibility of word like M., Clemenceau's, They had evidently discussed the possibility of losing Paris. He, too, was certain the armies would go on with the war. Foch spoke so positively and with such evident feeling that I was moved

I said his assurance was gratifying and that the French people could be certain the American government and our divisions on the west of the Marne salient, primarily as a precaution against another German offensive there, but ultimately for possible use on the offensive. The 2d, 3d, 26th and 42d were in that area, and with the 4th and 28th there was a force equivalent to 12 French divisions, although some of these units were without their artillery. cople would be with them to the last. people would be with them to the last. Everybody was in a cordial and agreeable mood, and as I departed Foch asked me to come to see him oftener and talk over matters in general, and never to hesitate to let him know when anything turned up that I did not like.

Looking back on those days, one Looking back on those days, one must say that, although the French regard their country as the yery keystone of the arch of civilization, it might have been difficult to have kept them in the war if Paris had fallen. While no one could have openly suggested any such thought at that time, some French officers felt that it would cause the ministry to fall and be replaced by one in favor of prace.

An encouraging circumstance at the moment was the success of the French at the French that fourth phase of the German offensive was an effort not only to widen the vulnerable Marne pocket, but to secure the railway between Compiegne and Soissons and open the way to Paris.

The work of one of the nurses at the front was recalled by the general, and when the long hospital staff line filed past at the reception in Nurses' Red Cross house, he not only repeated the names of those introduced, but asked again those he did not hear. No cold-blooded officialdom there—but enthusiasm, interest—the good officer concerned about the welfare, even the personalities, of the human beings allotted to his charge—rather boyishly enjoying freedom from the weight of war lifted from his shoulders.

Strong Army of Loyal Forces To Be Sent Southward Immediately.

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 25.—(P)—The. military junta governing Peru decided today on active warfare against the rebellious southern troops who seized the city of Arequipa last Friday.

There were indications yesterday that the conflict might be settled amicably, as 100 high officers of the loyal Lima garrison decided to send three of their number south by airplane to treat with the rebels.

The provisional government of

The provisional government of President Luis M. Sanchez Cerro ig-nored this move, however, and the in-termediaries did not take off. A strong army division will be dispatched southward immediately.

In the meantime the Lima government declared that the whole republic, with the exception of the "southern zone," was strongly against the revolt

In support of this it contends that it controls the port of Mollendo, which handles most of Arequipa's sea trade, and that the city is strongly garri-soned with loyal soldiers; that the department of Apurimac is resisting the efforts of Cuzco troops, who also rebelled, to strengthen their fellow in-surgents in Arequipa, and that strong military forces are in Tacna, extreme southern city, ready to march against southern city, ready to march against the revolutionaries.

Character Witnesses Introduced By Defense in Trial of Townsend

MACON, Ga., Feb. 25.—(P)—After seeking to show through a chain of witnesses that H. S. Townsend, on trial in Bibb superior court for the attempted arson of the Georgia Hardwood Company here last November, was seen on the plant premises shorts type before the discovery of a "fire trap," the prosecution rested late Wednesday afternoon and the defense to return home, the defense, and Dr. Curran E. Wednesday afternoon and the defense frought forward an imposing array of character witnesses.

The case lagged today, its second day of trial, and considerable time was spent in discussion of the admissability of character witnesses for D. L. Norris, president of the lumber company. Mr. Norris was indicted jointly with Townsend, but their trials are separate. James H. Price, of the defense, argued that although the trials are separate, they are "morally inseparable," and Judge H. A. Mathews was ruled the evidence admissible. With the state resting, and the entire slate of character witnesses brought from Mr. Norris' home, Greenville, S. C., having testified, the procedure tomorrow should be rapid, and it was considered probable that the trial will end in the afternoon.

Leo Bennett, a hardwood inspector for 30 years, was called to the stand by the solicitor. He estimated the value of the plant and its contents at $24,000.

TESTIMONY FINISHED IN TRIAL OF GILBERT

JONESBORO, Ga., Feb. 25.—With all testimony completed, attorneys will make their arguments Thursday will make their arguments Thursday morning before a superior court jury here in the case of Tolbert Gilbert, charged with beating and robbing Bernice Levis. Lynn Lee, under indietment with Gilbert for the same offenses, was the chief witness for the defense Wednesday.

Lee, a 16-year-old youth of Clayton county, was to have gone on trial with Gilbert Thursday morning before Judge John B. Hutcheson, but their cases were made separate.

Lee declared that Levis and his wife were their willing guests at a chicken stew held in the woods, that Mrs. Levis gave Gilbert a drink of liquor from a fruit jar she had concealed in her traveling bag, and that in an al-

Griffin Weatherman Predicts Early Spring

Professor Albert Snider, Griffin's long distance weather prognosticator, says spring is just around the corner. He avers there will be high winds during March. His prediction for the month, day by day, is:

for the month, day by day, is:

March 1, partly cloudy; 2 rain;
3, fair and colder; 4, fair and warmer; 5, fair; 6, fair; 7, rain; 8, fair and cold; 9, fair and warmer; 10, increasing cloudiness; 11, rain; 12, rain and windy; 13, fair and colder; 14, fair; 15, rain and warm; 16, rain with high winds; 17, fair and cooler; 18, fair and warmer; 19, cloudy; 20, rain; 21, fair and cold; 22, fair and windy; 23, fair and warmer; 24, rain; 25, partly cloudy; 26, fair and cooler; 27, fair and warmer; 28, rain; 29, fair and windy; 30, fair and cooler; 31, fair and warmer.

tercation during the afternoon Levis struck him (Lee) in the mouth.

Lee asserted on the stand that Mrs. Levis placed her arms around himself and Gilbert while they were driving in Gilbert's automobile.

By way of explaining Levis' injuries, Lee told the jury that Levis got into Gilbert's automobile and tried to drive it off but ran into a tree and that when Gilbert rushed up, Levis leaped from the car and struck Gilbert on the shoulder with a heavy instrument. He said that Levis then hit him. Then, he testified, Levis attempted to run away and got tangled in some barbed wire.

After he and Gilbert and Mrs. Levis left Levis, he said they went to a cabin. He declared that Mrs. Levis was not held against her will. Attorney O. J. Coogler, representing Gilbert, announced Wednesday afternoon that both Levis and his wife probably will be called back to the witness stand for cross-examination.

Claude C. Smith, solicitor-general, rested for the state late Tuesday afternoon and two defense witnesses, Mrs. C. Clausen, of 266 Central avenue, Atlanta, and H. H. Ramsour, Atlanta policeman, were called. The testimony of each was presented in a defense effort to impeach the previous prosecution testimony of Mrs. Levis.

Wednesday morning six witnesses testified that Levis and his wife appeared at the chicken stew near Jonesboro on the afternoon of January 27 and participated in liquor drinking which was going on. Neither seemed worried or ill at ease, various witnesses said. No testimony as to how many drinks either Levis or his wife took was given.

Defense witnesses who testified that they were at the chicken stew and told of the drinking were Berry Lee Stephens, W. H. Waterson, J. O. Barton. Richard Stephens and G. P. McMullen and Ted Dickey, all of Jonesboro.

Trial of Fred Kosterer, 18, Likely To Be Called Next Week.

CAIRO, Ga., Feb. 25.-(P)-Fred Kosterer, 18-year-old hitch-hiker from Newark, N. J., will go on trial for murder during the term of court opening here March 2, accused by a companion of having slain Rudolph R. Behrends, German tourist, for the purpose of robbery. Kosterer has indicated a plea of self-defense and charged that his accuser, Walter Dodson, 17, was an accessory before the The slaying, which occurred on little-frequented road near here last November, was revealed in Troy, Ala., the following day by Dodson, who told officers his "conscience hurt him." The two drove into Troy in Behrends' automobile and officers reported they found on Kosterer money believed to have been taken from the tourist's body.

Dodson, who made his report to officers while his companior was in a barber shop, said Behrends picked them up on the road as he drove west from Florida. The officers quoted him as saying Kosterer threatened their benefactor with a pistol and demanded money, then fired when Behrends refused his demand. Dodson said he had nothing to do with the robbery attempt and shooting, and did not approve of the plan.

Troy police quoted Kosterer as saying he "lost his head and shot" when Behrends made light of his demand for money. He expressed remorse, they

Governor Roosevelt's attitude on the momentous cornpone-potlikker question was wired to The Constitution last week and published by this paper on the morning of February 22. PREDICTS CIVIL WAR the negotiations.

Rumors that the World was losing money and was on the market have pervaded newspaper circles in New York for some months but the first intimation of action came to employes of the paper, their counsel told Surrogate Foley today, in a city news bulletin Tuesday afternoon.

At midnight they gathered, elected City Editor James Barrett, of the Morning World, as their spokesman, and drew up a petition to Surrogate Foley, asking him not to allow the sale of the World.

In their ranks were some names famous along Park Row. Three of them—Lindsay,Denison, George Buchanan Fife and Martin Green—are veterans of the most famous rewrite quartet that ever ground out glistening copy for a newspaper. Their fourth comrade, long since graduated from their ranks, was Irvin S. Cobb.

The employes worked out a plan of their own to take over the World papers, and sold hypothetical stock at $200 a share. Purchase of one share in the name of every employe was pledged—and that made, on paper, $600,000.

Men who had pounded beats and covered page one stories for years for the World rustled around town and got substantial citizens out of bed to enlist their support. The employes' committee gathered again this morning, totalled the fruits of their skirmishing, and calculated pledges of $2,000,000. One public-spirited citizen, they said, had put down his name for $250,000 "to keep alive the spirit of the World." Merchants and bankers had offered aid, they said.

Early this afternoon there paraded across Park Row and upstairs to Judge Foley's chambers in the hall of records a dozen veterans of the World. They bore the petition, signed by themselves and two dozen more ranking colleagues, asking the surrogate not to let the World be sold.

At their heels came newsboys bearing armsful of the 1:30 edition of the World, on page one of which was a two-column box inserted by the employee showing a greater circulation for the Morning World, and greater advertising volume for both the Morning and Evening Worlds today than on this d chicago, Feb. 25.—(P)—Al Capone, bulky and swarthy, leisurely leaned back in a chair in federal court today and calmly listened to the government's case intended to show he was in contempt for failure to appear before a grand jury in March, 1929.

Jacob Grossman, an assistant district attorney, argued Capone's claim of illness was untrue. Witnesses supported his contention regarding Capone's health, testifying the gangster chief made an airplane trip to the Bahamas, a boat trip to Nassau and attended the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling boxing bout at Miami during the period of his claimed illness. Contempt may carry a jail sentence. Capone's trip to court was a duplicate of previous visits to the federal building. Mounted police were in the streets surrounding the building; federal officers stood at elevator entrances and lined the corridor to Judge James A. Wilkerson's somber courtroom. Only a select audience gained admission, government employes, newspaper reporters, attorneys and city officers. All were scrutinized and some were searched for pistols.

The surrogate called all the attorneys to his bench and there was a long conference. In the course of it counsel for Block divulged that he had presented a written offer to the Pulitzers. Block made known to his lawyer his willingness to sell the paper to the employes. It was called to the attention of the employes' counsel that the St. Louis Post Dispatch, the original Joseph Pulitzer paper, is in no way involved in the project for the sale of the Worlds.

Surrogate Foley said. "I personally Dyer said a congressional investi-gation was necessary as a result of the Wickersham commission report and the supreme court action in sus-taining the validity of the eighteenth amendment.

Sheppard said the bill was aimed at grape and fruit concentrate manu-facturers.

Surrogate Foley said, "I personally shall not receive any offers. They should be sent in writing to the Press Publishing Company which publishes the World. I shall deal only with a question of law. I shall make no decision before 11 o'clock tomorrow morning—maybe not then. There will be no further public hearing. The hearing is adjourned." Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, counsel for one of the manufacturers of grape concentrate, has told the Wickersham commission this sentence in the Volstead act was the ground for legal immunity claimed by the grape industry.

The senator also disclosed he was hearing is adjourned."

Over on Park Row editions of the Evening World poured forth as usual—the two-column box elided now that it had served its purpose in the court room. The staff of the Morning World, many of which had been in the courtroom, reported for duty—with renewed hope that the World wouldn't come to an end.

Colonel Bard, of Avon (our famous Shakespearean tragedian) mistook my interrogation to be his cue, and dramatically orated:

The Not Very Reverend I. M. A.

"Ashes to ashes, dust to dust,
If crumbling don't get you, dunking must!"

And—H. O. G. (who was a hardboiled K. P. in my outfit) said:
"Hell! Youse guys is all wet. I just sops mine."

The Corpulent Gentleman with the Very Red Nose and Generous Equator, sighed deeply when he said:
"Cornpone-potlikker? The subject is entirely too long. Eliminate the second and third words, and I'll take mine straight." (Editorial comment: Shame upon you, C. G. with the V. R. N. May the shades of Volsteadism haunt you henceforth!)
Next, Corporal Phil A. Delphia (from up Pennsylvania way) indignantly shook his fist:
"What? Me a Dunker? Naw! I'm a Presbyterian."

LAUDS POTLIKKER MADE WITH BEANS OR PEAS

Editor Atlanta Constitution: If the discussion of the relative merits of the crumbling or the dunking of cornpone in potlikker isn't confined to governors, artists, etc., I'd like to express my humble opinion.

First, will say as to the potlikker derived from turnips or collards. I agree with the guy that says dunk, dip or crumble, or without either, just dump it in the hog trough.

But snapbeans or peas produce a potlikker that is delicious and, of course, it is a matter of taste, whether one dips or crumbles the cornpone.

Personally, I prefer it crumbled, but the main point which interests me is how to get the cornpone and potlikker if the drouth continues and the powers that be keep squeezing.

Respectfully yours. WITH BEANS OR PEAS

dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, ers that be keep squeezing.

Respectfully yours.

(BILL) W. L. MARTIN,
Florala, Ala., February 22, 1931.

SAYS CORNPONE IS FINE

IF SLICED AND FRIED Potlikker and Cornpone Editor, Atlanta Constitution: I have been very much interested in your potlikker and cornpone discussion. I am sending you by today's mail, one of my Ante-Bellum cornpones. You may either crumble or dunk. But if you haven't the potlikker handy it is delicious sliced, fried in hot fat, served with buttermilk; also fish, ments and vegetables.

So help me to promote this Ante-Bellum cornpone and make it one of the most famous breads in the south. I want you to be sure and try this bread out, according to directions on label and I'm sure you will thoroughly analy it. Respectfully. ly enjoy it. Respectfully.
MISS LILL CANNON.

Bowersville, Ga., February 23, 1931. SOUTH CAROLINIAN UPHOLDS CAUSE OF THE CRUMBLERS

Potlikker Editor Atlanta Constitution: I note in the Associated Press tion; I note in the Associated Press report you are in a controversy with Governor Long as to the proper method of eating potlikker and cornpone. I am a South Carolinian and was raised on potlikker and cornpone and hasten to offer you my support in the argument. Now who ever heard of drinking potlikker? That method might be all right for coffee, and perhaps the good governor may have gotten into that practice with his coffee drinking. Why, in South Carolina I doubt very much if 10 per cent of the population really know what drinking potlikker means. Long live potlikker and cornpone crumbled.

We feel that our decision in favor of the crumbling should be counted, as we are well in practice, in consuming the fine likker that is found in the pot where Florida vegetables are cooked.

We are enjoying our Constitution away down here. We receive it late in afternoon and all of us grab for it

CLAIMS QUESTION SETTLED BY QUEEN OF BELGIUM

Potlikker Editor, Atlanta Constitu-on: Speaking of dunking in general tion: Speaking of dunking in general I wish to call your attention to the ract that not more than three months ago, as carried by the press associations, the king and queen of the Belgians had a compromise on the subject. It seemed that his majesty was partial and was a practitioner of dunking, especially of bread and doughnuts. The gracious queen acquiesced in the practice in so far as dunking was done only in the family circle of the dunker. As to dunking in public, "Never," exclaimed her Belgian majesty.

Therefore, reaconing by analogy and desiring to point the way to com-

Therefore, reaconing by analogy and desiring to point the way to compromise and eventual peace between Governor Huey Long, LL. D., D. D. (Doctor in Dunking) and the esteemed Atlanta Constitution, it is suggested that dunking be done only in private and crumbling "the thing to do" in public. It is not to be denied that by dunking, the cornpone, or doughnut, or bread tastes better.

FOR COUNTY MERGERS

The action of the Georgia house of representatives in unanimously consolidations Indicates how the arguments for county mergers are taking hold throughout the state. Taken into sane consideration those arguments are convincing of the great civic and economic need for such county reductions, to save the taxpayers from heavy administration expenses and accumulating unbear-ties and taxes is not peculiar to Georgia, but is showing strongly in taxation is caused by excessive county governments. Nevada has only 17 counties, yet even there a measduce them to seven counties, making it possible for each of them to be self-supporting with bearable taxes for local administration

The saving to the taxpayers of Georgia by merging the 161 counties into half that number would more than halve the present burden for such consolidations is tal considerations and the resistance of local tax-eating office-holders.

The urge for such a reduction of counties is made by practically the whole press of the state because the they are to the politicians and even the mass of the people. The press can do no higher service to the state than to keep the facts before the people until their sense of selfa feasible plan of county mergers, and that soon.

A DESIRABLE REFORM

The passage by the house of congress of the Norris resolution to end "lame duck" sessions of the congress is matter for nationwide gratification. The design is to end confusion and solecism of rejected nembers of congress still having power to dictate or defeat national legislation.

For instance, a democratic congress may be elected, as often has happened, in November to replace a republican congress, yet under the present state of law, the republican majorities can continue for another session to legislate against the will of the people expressed at the polls.

The resolution aims to cure that evil by a constitutional amendment that will provide that the congress elected in November shall begin to function on the following January 4 and the president shall be inaugurated 20 days thereafter. The house amended the resolution to limit the second session to four months, and second session to four months, and that is a destrable restriction.

It is much to be hoped that Senator Norris and his colleagues will promptly accept the amendment, in session. It is within possibility up-to-date. She cannot stop smoking out of a long amber cigaret holder and to have her face made up with pow-constitutional amendment before constitutional amendment before operative after the elections of next

La Rochelle, the old Huguenot stronghold on the coast of France, appears to be the cradle of the illustrious Windsor family. By elimbing up the family tree one often sees unexpected horizons. In 1595 Jacqueline Poussard was born in the chateau of Haut-Vandre, 20 miles from La Rochelle. She was married to Alexandre Desnior d'Olbreuse. Even Jimmie Cox, like candidate in 1920, says so. And Chairman Raskob, of the national committee, says so, while many other strong men of the party in the east and in the middle west consider the thing inevitable. They already count the content of the presidency. That licking had a wholesome effect on the democrats, so that when they came into convention in 1844 it was with the determination to stop their highest committee, says so, while many other strong men of the party in the east and in the middle west consider the two-thirds rule in making nominations. The rule was adopted, and on thing inevitable. They already count a majority of the delegates to the national convention as sure to vote that way.

It is easy, in present circumstances nd state of democratic sentiments, and state of democratic sentiments, to believe that the dry section of the party will have more than a third of the delegates in the convention. Standing solidly together they can, under the two-thirds rule, prevent the nomination of wet candidates.

In that case there will come a hot nomination of wet candidates.

In that case there will come a hot fight for the repeal of the ancient two-thirds rule and for nominations by a majority vote. That fight will rage over whether the rule can be changed by a majority of the convention, or that the change must have the consent of two-thirds of the delegates.

But after much rag-chewing and air-But after much rag-chewing and air-threshing a report to abolish the two-thirds requisition will be adopted by the usual majority vote, and then it will be up to the dry delegates to-decide whether they will remain in the convention or stage another fatal will next 1860.

History of the Old Rule,

It is not generally known, or re-It is not generally known, or remembered, that next year the famous two-thirds rule in the democratic party will be 100 years old.

It was adopted by the convention of 1832, at the instance of President Andrew Jackson, who was to be renominated by acclamation for the presidency. He was mad as a hornet at Vice-President John C. Calnoun and did not want him renominated and did not want him renominated Old Hickory shrewdly figured way to nominate instead his out a way to nominate instead his favorite, Martin Van Buren. There can be no harm come to the country, but rather much good, by having the presidential campaign of next year fought out over the one next year fought out over the one and only issue of what to do about prohibition.

The democratic party can afford to make that issue and, ignoring all other questions, challenge the verdict of the American electorate on whether the 18th amendment shall stand, or a new and better liquor policy be submitted to the states in lieu of that amendment and the Volstead act.

The Long Desired Realignment. Assuming that the republican party will take the dry side of the contest, with dry candidates, there will inevitably occur the long hoped for realignment of the two parties. There is nothing else much to divide and distinguish them as they now stand.

CAMPBELL IN GOOD When Foolish Love Spares the Rod,

One of America's celebrated critics says in the midst of a book reiew: "The God of infinite love, in the presence of the most ordinary human affliction, becomes a mere puzzle, and hence ridiculous."

It is not a new thought. It is the age-old complaint of suffering men. If God truly loves mankind, why does He permit affliction?

Thus men accuse and convict their God as they would not convict the meanest criminal. When an officer of the law commits a crime and accuses an innocent man in order to conceal his own guilt, the injustice of his accusation seems more wicked than the crime itself; yet that kind of injustice is the common practice of men who criticize God.

They do evil and blame God for the consequences.

Is God's love to be questioned because a finger thrust in the fire is painfully burned? If a child eats forbidden fruit and is made sick, does it follow that the child's parents are lacking in affection? Action and reaction are halves of an inseparable whole. As the fruit a plant is in the seed, so a reaction is in the act that causes it. act is not complete until the reaction is finished. Thus the puntshment that follows violation of a natural law is but a completion of the cycle begun by the violation. To expect or hope to avoid the punishment would be as absurd as to expect a hatched chick to unhatch itself.

The afflictions that men suffer are reactions. They are the completion of acts begun by men. If you throw an object into the air, it must by natural law return. Is God's love at fault if the object strikes you

I once knew a woman whose failure to read the label on a bottle of medicine resulted in the death of her infant child. She accused God of taking her baby. Can you imagine a greater blasphemy?

For Dive Today Forecast Says

Temperatures are due to take drop this morning but by midafternoon the sun will shine again and warmer weather will set in, C. F. von Herrmann, the government weather forecaster, said Wednesday. Mr. von Herrmann admitted that in forecasting Tuesday he had erred slightly in predicting the return of Old Sol Wednesday.

There is no more rain in sight at present, the meteorologist said. Today's temperatures are expected to range between 40 and 50 degrees as compared to a range of 41 and 48 recorded f : Wednesday.

Hope of Raising Needed Funds by March 1 Abandoned by Officials.

Hope of meeting the March 1 pay roll of the borough of Atlanta, amounting to about $400,000, on time were virtually abandoned. Wednesday in a conference between Mayor James L. Key and B. Graham West, comp-troller. A total of $130,000 is needed to meet the emergency.

Indications were that the approximately 3,000 workers involved would be forced to wait about a week, until first-of-the-month collections are made.

De forced to wait about a week, until first-of-the-month collections are made.

During the conference Mr. Key declared that unless all departments could receive their salary checks on time, all would wait until funds were availabl to meet the whole pay roll.

Shortage of funds is due to lack of sufficient revenue to meet past obligations, Mr. Key pointed out, declaring that the borough owes at the present time about $200,000 in past-due accounts, and has absorbed a large deficit brought over from last year.

There was only about $69,000 on deposit in banks to the credit of the borough Wednesday. Borrowing power of the borough because of other outstanding loans is limited to approximately $200,000. The pay roll for all departments, including policemen, firemen, sanitary and construction department workers, school teachers and city hall employes, totals $400,000, leaving a deficit of $130,000.

Conference Fives Arrive Today To Prepare for Tourney Friday; Tech Line Shows Greater Speed, Power Under Cannon System; Walker Wins Slashing Battle From Risko in Miami Ring

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25 .- As soon as "Pa" Stribling has finished checking up on his boxing show and has done similar honors with his wrestling show Friday night, he will load the portable household baggage and the family into an airplane, a couple of automobiles, and perhaps a railroad train, and reestablish his base of operations at the farm in Thomasville.

Thence he will move northward to resume contact with the interests that are staging the June championship scrap that will match his son and Max Schmeling. The idea persists that the fight will be held in Chicago regardless, yet the bid of Cleveland, where a stadium seating 100,000 people will be completed in June, is being pushed.

Both Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, and "Pa" have said out loud that they are willing to pit their men in Cleveland and look with favor on the site and all

But the fact remains that until these two hard-headed businessmen are shown beyond a doubt that Cleveland can produce as much at the gate as Chicago, they will not go far toward agreeing to forego Chicago. Likewise the interests of the Hearst Milk Fund will be considered. It is a three-way combination that must be satisfied.

The actual naming of the place will be left until April, according to the contracts, and it is unlikely that all parties actually can get together before that time. Meanwhile the discussion serves to keep the engagement alive in the public mind, which is an important feature.

AW, IT'S NOT SO MUCH.

You have heard much of the bewildering speed of the game jai-alai (pronounced "hi-li") and how difficult it is for a novice to follow. In my meager way I have contributed to this belief by fingering out pieces to that effect for publication.

But the other night, in company with W. L. Stribling, who was guest of honor for the evening, I watched a series of games at the Biscayne fronton (pronounced "court") and was surprised—nay, chagrined—at the simplicity of the game. I wondered why it had ever appeared so complicated, so bewildering before. It is difficult to describe. That much is true. But it is much easier to follow intelligently than a basketball game. The game really is balloon handball. Instead of gloves the players wear a basket on their hands about the same size and shape of a motorcycle mudguard. The ball is hard, lively and a bit smaller than a baseball. The court is 150 feet long and 25 feet wide.

The ball is caught in this basket and slung against the end of the court. The form is much like that of a discus thrower. It may be hit on first bounce or on the fly. The players or sides strike it alternately and the first to miss loses a point to the other player or side. It is played in singles, doubles or triples, that is to say, there are one, two or three players on a side.

After watching one game a novice can follow it. After watching two games he can tell which man will win. After three games he can swear forcibly at the clumsy player and explain how he should have played a certain ball. It's a great game for the kibitzers.

One of the charms of the game as played here in this free

One of the charms of the game as played here in this free country is that one may make investments in certain players on the old stock certificate racket (pronounced "mutuels") that lends an excitement to the game that it does not, per se, possess.

AND A GOOD REASON IT IS.

Now how did jai-alai get the reputation of being such a fast game and so hard to keep up with? In my own case I realize now that at the time I saw my first jai-alai game—in the year 1924 at this same fronton—I still made a practice of drinking my dinner (pronounced "Scotch") from a glass.

De nard to stomach.

The process of proving relative power will be a spectacle par excellence, Present indications, based on past showings, serve to stamp this as the best tourney in conference history. Certainly there has never been a stronger field of teams entered. Nor has there ever been such an array of battles on tap for the fans. Not a one of the first round games looks easy. And from then on the tilts will get harder.

That very evening I seem to remember I had tested out samples of several sorts of potent liquids that seem to be indigenous to this happy-go-lucky country. That sort of diet (pronounced "gin") would have made a

So that may explain why jai-alai has such a reputation for speed and intricacy; it usually is played in placed Miami, Tia Juana and Juarez.

Dixie's light brigade comes charging into town this afternoon, 162 strong but with as much ability, courage and fight as that other 600 ever thought "The 162," the 16 teams most vitally concerned, herald the approach of the eleventh annual Southern conference basketball tournament.

They ride into battle by pairs if squads at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and continue the procedure at hourly intervals until 9 o'clock that evening. By that time half the roster will have fallen by the wayside; will have gone down in glorious combat. Of 16 teams, 8 will be girding their loins for more strife and 8 spreading salve on wounds

Georgia Tech, the home entry, is, naturally enough, on hand. Of the other 15, all but Virginia are listed to reach Atlanta today. The Cavaliers will roll in along about dawn Friday. Kentucky will lead the parade.

The boys will parade into town intermittently today, unload their bags—and most of it, should you have an uncle on one of the visiting squads, is slated to be at the Ansley hotel—and stroll about town, winding up at either the Atlanta Athletic Club or the Georgia Tech courts for a final practice session. More moving about will bring them to downy couches for a final snatching of sleep before making that big challenge for glory.

TECH LINEMEN SHOW GREATER POWER, DRIVE

Well Liked, New Coach Is Getting More Out of Players.

By Ralph McGill.

Too slow! Too slow! Too slow! Too slow!

That is the phrase that rattles off the walls at the Rose Bowl field and reverberates from the flats as the Jacket spring football practice moves into high gear.

Jack Cannon, one of the greatest guards since Pudge Hefflefinger made history in the pacelithic age at Yale, has the Georgia Tech linemen bearing down with a heavy foot on the gas.

There is more speed now at the Rose Bowl field than at any time last fall. The Jacket linemen showed more drive and football technique in the Wednesday practice than at any time last season. They seem to be getting the big idea from the former Notre Dame guard who is out there showing them how.

CANNON SHOWS 'EM.
"Punk. Get out and let me there a minute." And in goes Cannon. He springs forward, at least three sections of his body hitting as many men. He does it over until the men see how its done. They try it, making perhaps a poor imitation. But they are getting the idea.

Georgia Tech's football team next fall won't win all its games, perhaps, but it is going to show more football but it is going to show more football than any in some time.
With the line progressing rapidly Head Coach Bill Alexander is having time to look over the situation generally. Captain Henry Robinson and Coach Mack Tharpe are taking over the backs and ends. Coach Alexander is able to serve as head coach. His capable lieutenants are making things buzz at the Flats.

Dreamers Smack Lips At Juicy Odds On Derby

F THERE BE any among you who are addicted to the sordid habit of betting on which horse can finish with his nose in front of the others in the old canter, now is the time to do your indulging.

The winter odds on the Kentucky Derby eligibles afford an excellent opportunity to lay some foundations for some serious financial air-

A S handicapped by Tom Kearney, of St. Louis, the odds range all the way from 400 to 1 down to 4 to 1. Equipoise, a chestnut colt by Swinging out of Pennant, is the favorite at odds of 4, 2 and 1. The five quoted at the top price of 400 to 1 are Astrakhan, Char-leigh, Hurry Bye, Sir John Alden and Skiffy.

The Kentucky Derby won't see more than 15 or 16, if that many, of the 130 nominations of 3-year-olds running. And bets placed in the future books are lost if the horse is scratched. Odds of 400 to 1 have never been cashed, of course.

THE longest price ever paid in a Kentucky Derby was in 1913, when Donerail won and paid $184.90 to win, $41.20 to place and $13.20 to show for each $2 mutual ticket.

The 400 to 1 isn't a very probable happening for the derby, but stranger things have happened. There was a 941-to-1 longshot who came home once, Wishing Ring, winning at Latonia in 1912, paid off at that price.

England offers an even greater long shot who came home to papa. It was just a couple of years ago, November, 1921, that Coole, running in a hurdle race, paid 3,400 to 1.

SLASHING AFFAIR.

SLASHING AFFAIR.

The first round was a slashing affair. Their white gloves flashed in and out. Risko shot his punches from a crouch and grunted with the effort. Walker parried coolly and landed hard lefts to the body of the baker boy. Risko had the edge.

Risko came back in the second round sullenly swinging, but Walker poured a rain of solid lefts into the line above the trunks where Risko's soft body rolled over. Suddenly switching his attack to the head, Walker scored solidly and won the round.

Walker's marksmanship was deadly in the third but Risko kept boring in and slamming wildly. Mickey lowered his sights toward the end and punched away at Risko's body. Mickey took that one by a margin.

JOHNNY RALLIES.

JOHNNY RALLIES:

But bless me if that stolid German didn't come back churning his arms and grunting like a negro chopping wood and belabor the keener hitting Walker from post to post. It was a fast, hard fight and Risko took the fourth to put him close to even trrms with his smaller foe.

They stood toe to toe and traded smashes in the fifth, stirring the crowd into an uproar. Perhaps it was even but Risko was forcing the fight il the way and earned the shade if any.

Walker opened the sixth by hitting Risko low. He was warned by the referee and the men shook hands. Then Mickey jolted Risko cruelly with a right chop, but Risko cruelly with a right chop, but Risko came back doggedly, crowding Mickey at every turn. Risko butted Walker over the left eye and at the sight of his opponent's claret the big boy began shooting his right hand at the target. The round closed out in the most furious slugging mill you can imagine. It was another even round, with each man delivering a million dollars' worth of action.

Mickey gallantly came back in the seventh and shot Risko full of holes.
Dazed by a right chop early in the period Risko was an easy mark and lost the round by a mile.

The eighth was slower, for both were drained by the terrific pace.
Walker took the round after but little action.

Early in the ninth Mickey nailed Risko again solidly with his right chop and slowed the hitherto aggressive baker boy down to an ordinary pace. But still it was a whirling session, as feather weight bout. fast as a featherweight bout.

And the tenth was just another banging, bumping semester, with both men pumping them in as hard as they could. Mickey won the round and the

It was just another of those nights that have been the despair of Floridans to explain. It was downright cold. A raw breeze whipped into the big octagonal saucer. Fashionably adorned women and inadequately clad men shivered. The mode provides that milady shall include in her Florida wardrobe a white wool coat with a belt, or perhaps a more substantial one of camel's hair. But there is nothing in the book to provide the sap who pays for the tickets with anything of a semi-warm nature. ## PERCY BEARD, AUBURN STAR, BREAKS RECORD

Does 70-Yard Hurdles in 8 5-10 Seconds To Smash World Mark.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. MADISON SQUARE GARDEN,
New York, Feb. 25.—(P)—Percy
Beard, a slow spoken but fast stepping youngster from Alabama Poly, set a new world's indoor record for the 70-yard high hurdles tonight of 8 5-10 seconds ir defeating a classy field in the national indoor championships.

Illinois, defending champion, was second and John Morriss, of Southwestern Louisiana Institute, was third.

Savoldi Draws 30-Day Suspension

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.

(P)—"Jumping Joe" Savoldi's professional wrestling career in California was halted today when he was suspended for 30 days because of butting tactics used in winning a match here least night.

The state athletic commission, in announcing the suspension of the former Notre Dame football fullback, said he butted the veteran, Howard Cantonwine, so severely in their match that the Iowan was under a doctor's care for several hours.

The commission said Savoldi repeatedly ignored the referee's warning.

and semi-final heat. Morriss also tied the record in winning his heat. Beard

GIANT COSSACK

Matchmaker Weber Arranges Strong Prelim for Title Show.

Atlanta's wrestling fans are to have chance to widen their acquaintance among the more select circles of heavyweight grapplers next Wednesday night at the auditorium when Matros Kirilenko, giant Cossack, crawls through the ropes for a one-hour match with Tom Marvin, the Indian chief, as a preliminary to the Jim Londos-Paul Harper bout.

Londos-Paul Harper bout.

Lirilenkos will be making his first appearance in Atlanta. He is rated as one of the five or six best heavyweights in the business. Weighing 215 pounds, the big Russian is strong and fast. He is an adept with most of the holds in the book and is ready and willing to wrestle on anybody's terms: he can be rough as rough or clean as clean. Anything suits him so long as his opponent is in for action. And the terrible Cossack does love action. He has never put on a bad show; he is always working at top speed. Atlanta fans are certain to like him. He has a stout foe in the big Indian, who has shown here several times before, will likely dictate the rougher sort of evening Wednesday. PAZO OINTMENT

SONGS OF THE SEASON. "In the Good Old Wintertime."

An old fan sat one day at a table, small and round,
Drinking every kind of liquid which in that place could be found;
He had forty even chances, and he never fumbled one,
Catching sixteen whizzing highballs ere he scored his first home run;
While sitting at the table he began to read the dope, Depicting every manager in front up pennant slope; But soon in dreamy fancy from the page he turned away, And to the drink dispenser there these idle words did say-CHORUS.

"In the good old wintertime, the good old wintertime, How swiftly from the bottom all these tail-end people climb; They call each rook a nectarine, although he is a lime, Oh, how they like to spoof as in the good old wintertime."

The weeks rolled by and spring had come, and there on rooter's row
The same fan sat with eyes ablaze and ruddy cheeks aglow;
He saw the "second Wagner" strike out four times in one game, While seven lumpy errors were inscribed against his name. He saw the "speedball wonder" who had starged at Rural Falls Yield nineteen massive bingles and a dozen base-on-balls; And then above the battle, and the rattle of the fray
He softly hummed the chorus of that liquid winter day—
CHORUS.

"In the good old wintertime, the good old wintertime," etc.

meanwhile, the announcement has just been made that Wimbledon has again been sold out, with more than $135,000 returned. And this happens to be February, with the Wimbledon tournament is developing greater interest every pear. The national championship over here might be built up to an equal extent, although it would take a few years. Once a success is established, with tradition planted on the side, there isn't much else to worry about.

Wimbledon will not have Tilden, Mile. Lenglen and probably will miss Miss Wills. But the February sell-out for a June show still takes place.

Wagner's Birthday.

Wagner's Birthday.

Time has been picking up a little speed lately. Honus Wagner celebrated his 57th birthday this week and it doesn't seem to be so many yesterdays back when the Flying Dutchman was striking out those two widespread fins for every ground ball hit between second and third.

Wagner still carries the backing of most old-timers as the "greatest of all infielders." It is for this reason that John McGraw has picked him as the greatest of ball players. "For." says McGraw, "an infielder is more valuable than an outfielder and has a lot more work to do. So the greatest infielder of all time ought to be the greatest ball player of all time, which Wagner was and is."

Wagner was still a high-class ball player at the age of 43. A great hitter, a brilliant infielder and one of the smartest. He knew his stuff to the last dot.

Wagner belongs to the type that has helped to give baseball its grip. In the somewhat trying days of the game the public at large put its full faith in such men as Cy Young, Christy Mathewson, Larry Lajoie, Hans Wegner and Walter Johnson, to mention only a few. I remember out west many years ago when some one said baseball was crooked. At which point a farmer from the Paoli, Ohio, district spoke up: "There can't be nothing trooked about it or old Cy wouldn't have nothing to do with it." By old Cy he meant Cy Young.

A FTER watching a wrestling match A FTER watching a wrestling match one would think that the wrest-ler's competitive career would be among the shortest in sport. What with all the arm twisting, leg wrecking, toe bending, butting, heavy falls and the demand for continued speed and action, it would seem that only a few could survive four or five years. ler can operate longer than a ball player or tennis player. Zbysko wc3 a champion around 50, after 30 years of competition. He is still first-class in the vicinity of 60. Londos took about 10 years to reach his peak and still has a long way to go. The punishment inflicted isn't as great as the facial expressions often indicate, but it is quite enough.

When a 200-pound or a 230-pound body is continually lifted and flopped against the floor with an old-fashioned thud, one would think that something had to give way in a short while—to bend if not to break. But it doesn't seem to work out that way.

"Tilden has beaten Kozeluh, the professional champion, five straight matches," says an exchange. The only kink in this statement happens to be that Vinnie Richards is still the pro-

Fight Fat In

Physicians the world over now employ a new method of treating obesity. It is based on modern science, and aims to correct the cause. No starvation, no over-exercise, no harmful drugs.

The reason is this: Medical research has found a great cause of obesity in a weakened thyroid gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Its secretion helps turn food into fuel and energy. When that secretion is scant, too much

So physicians now feed the factor that is lacking. That is one great reason why excess fat is so muchiless common than it used to be.

Used in Marmola farmola prescription tablets supply his needed factor in ideal combination.

A world-famous medical laboratory pre-pares them to fit the average case. A book in each box gives the formula com-plete and explains the results. The pur-pose is to supply this new method, at a modest price, to all who are over-fat.

Marmola has been used for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results, and the use has spread. It has for two decades held top place in this field.

Now you see the results wherever you look. Your own friends can tell you of them. Excess fat has been disappearing

WORK ON THREAD MILI TO BE STARTED SOO

Construction Will Begin When Railroad Spur Track Is Completed.

Construction work on the first unit of the Clark Thread Company mills near Austell will begin as soon as a 2 1-2-mile sidetrack from the Southern main line at Austell to the plant is completed, it was announced Wednesday by A. K. Adams Company, contractors.

nesday by A. K. Adams Company, contractors.

Grading work on the sidetrack has started, and the sidetrack probably will be finished early in April, it was said at the Southern roadmaster's office. The Adams company had four months from the start of the work in which to complete the contract. The contractor is waiting for the sidetrack to be finished in order that materials may be shipped by rail directly to the plant, it was said.

Bids on the houses of the mill village have not been called for as yet, it was said.

Little Rock, Ark. The other was a "re-purchase agreement" whereby the La-surance company would be forced to buy back certain securities which it conveyed to Caldwell & Company. This agreement, the bill said, "was intended to and did result in unfair advantage to" Caldwell & Compan.

music of Bach.

In the recitative, "Behold, I Tell You a Mystery," and air "The Trumpet Shall Sound," from Handel's "Messinh." Frank C. Eastman, Jr., displayed not only a voice of fine baritone quality and unusual technique, but a musicianly understanding of this difficult work, presenting it in the true spirit of the classic style. Miss Helen Riley gave competent support in the accommaniment.

Miss Riley sang Bach's "Komm Susser Tod" (Come Sweet Death), showing to advantage a soprano voice of lovely tone quality, true intona-tion, and a sustained legato that was exquisite. Mrs. Charles Chalmers played Miss Riley's accompaniments with sympathetic interpretation.

Silver Wedding Celebrated.

Made Happy

MANY times a child has everything to make her happy and still is dissatisfied. This may not be the youngster's fault. Often it is due to a condition easily corrected.

Take the experience of Mrs. J. H. Hinkle, 410 Cameron St., Atlanta, who says: "Nothing seemed to please Marcelle. She was fretful, feverish, suffered a lot from colds. She was constipated.

Celebrated.

BROOKS, Ga., Feb. 25.—An interesting affair of the past week was the celebration of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Malone at their home here.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. J. J. Malone, Mrs. J. B. Wood, Miss Regina Wilson, of Barnesville; Miss constipated.

suffered a lot from colds. She was constipated.

"We saw California Fig Syrup advertised and got some. It relieved her trouble promptly; made her bright and happy again. We have used it for three years."

Mothers by thousands praise this pure vegetable product. Children love it. Doctors recommend it to relieve constipation, feverishness, fretfulness, headaches; to open the bowels in colds or children's ailments.

Appetite is increased by the use of son, of Barnesville, and little Miss Barbara Anne Malone. Mrs. Malone's corsage bouquet was of Roman white hyacinths and fern, duplicating her bouquet of 25 years ago. The guests included a large number of friends of the popular couple.

Steve nodded. He listened attentively to Peter's account of his own crossexamination by Connolly.

"You don't know, of course, what Barclay and Connolly said to her?" Steve asked, and Peter shook his head.

"No, except that they'd obviously scared her to death. She got it into her head that they thought Ross had shot Tack, and that she'd been in on it. I didn't ask her any questions—there wasn't time. And you saw the state she was in."

"Ye-es," said Wentworth. "That's light and course, "said Mr. Cameron. "I'll see about getting off at once. Meanwhile—can you get hold of Prentice, I wonder? My law-yer. He'll know what to do. George Prentice,—Prentice, Stone and Gresham. You'll find them in the telephone book. You're very good, taking all this trouble, Mr. Wayne. Do as much for you if I ever get the chance—glad to. And will you ask Prentice to keep in touch with me, my dear fellow? Thanks. I'll see you when I get to town. Good-by—good-by."

It was all eminently correct, but

"Ye-es," said Wentworth. "That's Peter. hanging up, had a feeling that Bouton's job, anyway—or the job of Mr. Cameron wasn't going to help whoever she retains." He frowned. "I much. He understood, rather better wonder why they didn't arrest her right away?"

"They haven't got a case," said Peter, indignantly.

"Tye known of plenty of arrests

"I just looked in," she said. "She's sleeping like a child. She's sweet, Peter. I dare say I've been a little hard on her—and, anyway, she hasn't deserved this."

stand them off if they try. I'd give doing to Ross, about now."

"Ross!" said Peter. "I'd forgotten about him!"

"You can be pretty sure Connolly hasn't," said his brother-in-law dryly. "Ross was probably picked up while you were waiting over there on the The maid came in, just the that breakfast.

"Ross was probably picked up while you were waiting over there on the roof."

The maid came in, just then, to say that breakfast was ready, and Peter was surprised to find that he was by no means without interest in grape-fruit, and bacon, and cup after cup of strong coffee. Queer, the way life insisted on going on, along its ordinary, commonplace lines, in spite of murder and tragedy and the looming shadow of utter disaster.

"I tell you what you'd better do," said Steve, to Peter, presently. "Find out anything you can about Martha's people—see whether she has a lawyer. She must have, of course. Let me know who he is, and I'll get in touch with him. Chances are he'll want a criminal man to handle this, just as I would, and if he'd rather have some one besides Bouton it'll be all right with me. Only—some one ought to be on the job right away. That's what counts just now."

Peter agreed with him, especially when he remembered the way Connolly had looked when he flung open the door after the flashlight had gone off. It had been all very well for him to reassure Martha, to tell her that she was crazy to think she might be arrested. But, in point of fact, Peter agreed with Steve Wentworth: the very fact that Martha was still at liberty struck him, now, as alarming.

He did what he could on the telephone from Carol's apartment. Though it went against the grain, he tried to reach Ross, but he was hardly surprised to be told, both at his spartment and at his office—Ross had a job, of sorts, downtown—that he was out. From Marian Bronson he learned that Martha's father was at Palm

Mrs. Frances Reid, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. Lay, her uncle and aunt, at the Pulliam street address.

According to a report by Call Officers R. E. Floyd and R. L. Mosley, Reid dropped in at the Lay home unexpectedly while the family was at supper, bringing with him an automatic shotgun, a revolver and a knife. Mrs. Reid said that he pointed the shotgun at her, and she grabbed it and yanked it away from him. When Reid pulled his revolver, Lay grappled with him and obtained possession of it, according to reports to police. Reid then started to work with his knife, police were told.

Reid told Police Captain A. J. Holeombe that he had been drinking prior to his visit to the Lay home, but claimed that the young arsenal was merely a "bluff." Nolan Lay, 17. son of Harry Lay, hit Reid over the head with a chair and pulled him off of his father, holding Reid until neighbors

What the Market Did. Wed. Tues. Tone of the Markets. STOCKS—Reavy. BONDS—Irregular. CURB—Irregular. WHEAT-Firm. CORN-Firm. CATTLE-Stendy. HOGS-Irregular. BY JOHN L. COOLEY. NEW YORK, Feb. 25 .- (A)-Pro essional and other traders shook palatable profits out of the stock market today, leaving quotations 1 to 5 points Just to keep their hands in, the bulls gave the merchandising issues a turn, but the strength in that group was generally ignored elsewhere. Par was generally ignored elsewhere. Particularly soft were the amusement and the handful of erratic issues which usually show extreme changes, whatever the trend. Trading remained active, although the turnover of 4,400,000 shares was 900,000 under yesterday's. Domestic bonds were unsteady, with a recurrence of weakness in United States governments. Grain showed considerable firmness, while bar silver and cotton sagged, the latter 4 to 7 points. Several attempts at rallies cropped up during the day's share trading, but the market was in a profit-taking mood. General Motors, Radio, General Electric and Consolidated Gas, among others, worked to new highs for the year and United States Steel duplicated its top before realizing finally turned prices definitely lower. The strong tone of the chain store stocks at the close induced some short covering and final quotations were above the day's lows. It was inevitable that the net advances of 3.34 each in Sears-Roebuck and Montgomers Ward should revive the old rumor of a merger which is never allowed to rest when there is activity in the stocks. Wall Street rather believes that the attitude of the federal authorities would be an obstacle in the path of such a consolidation, although from the standpoint of the companies there are doubtless points in favor of consolidation. There was little speculative interest in the wails where unforcered. ticularly soft were the amusement and doubtless points in favor of consolidation. There was little speculative interest in the rails, whose unfavorable January earnings are now being published, but transactions were usually at lower prices. Coppers and motors were soggy. Radio held up well, closing steady. Money Market. NEW YORK. NEW YORK. NEW YORK. 1 per cent all day. Time loans steady: 60 days 14614; 3-4 months 1462; 5-6 months 21624 per cent. NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The cotton market, after sdvancing to new highs for the year or about 20 points over the previous close, lost all the gains on local profit taking and selling of May by brokers who usually act for the farm board. The early advance was due principally to strong Liverpool cables on the improved conditions in India. After the decline, the market became very quiet, fluctuating within a few points of the previous close. The market closed rather easy, about 5 points down on the day.

Liverpool futures are due; March 6.04; May 6.12. CHICAGO, Feb. 25 .- (AP)-Wheat and corn both scored material advances today, helped by better export call for North American wheat and call for North American wheat and by improved shipping demand here for corn. Europe took about 1,000,000 bushels of wheat from North America. Shippers' purchases of corn in Chicago were of decidedly larger volume than of late.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to 1 1-4 cents higher, corn 1-2c to 1 1-8c up, oats 1-8c to 3-8c advanced and provisions at a rise of 5 to 25 cents. Helping to strengthen wheat values here were dispatches from the Paris international grain conference indicating that central and eastern European surpluses were relatively small, and that Great Britain was safeguarding Canadian and Australian export outlets. The corn market gave evidence of having been oversold. Oats sympathized with upturns in corn and wheat. Wednesday ......$6,204,068.77 Same day last year.. 9,031,042.76 Decrease ......$2,826,973.99

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Cotton prices eased off after the opening under liquidation, rumors of selling by the co-operatives and selling by traders who think a reaction is due. March notices were lagued Wednesday at New Orleans for 6,000 bales and for 4,000 bales are New York, all of which were apparently taken care of. There was considerable realizing in the afternoon and prices continued to case off. The close was steady with net losses for the day of 8 to 9 points.

Cotton goods markets reported firm with a larger demand for contract deliveries. Charlotte reports improving demand, but sakes only in small lots and shippers unwilling to sell at present prices. Manchester cables that there was a fair cloth turnover for India and moderate sales to the continent and South America.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Wednesday's market offered somewhat less aggressive resistance to realizing sales but reactions were held within technical limits. Renewed railying tendencies appeared in the closing hour following a fairly broad midday setback which apparently had effect of corecting over-bought conditions in directions where advance was lately followed through -Other Quotations

the DAWN-?"

Once every twenty-four hours is a time when the moon vanishes beneath the Western horizon and in the East there is yet no sign of the sun. This is the hour of greatest darkness when the pulse of Nature is at lowest ebb.

But it is also the proverbial hour that presages dawn.

This analogy has properly been applied to the securities markets. Always when pessimism has been most rife—the turn has come.

Signs are not wanting that the world-and particularly America—is moving briskly forward into daylight.

After a period of comparative quiet,

After a period of comparative quiet, pressure was renewed against governments, particularly in the afternoon, forcing declines ranging as high as 22-32nds of a point, in a turnover of more than $1,750,000.

There were no developments in the situation affecting governments to account for the heavy offerings which forced Treasury 3 3-Ss of 1940-43 to a new low for the year at 100.29. Selling was heaviest in treasury long-term issues, losses ranging from 9-32nds to 22-32nds. Liberty bonds gave ground more slowly. The 3 1-2s were largely offered and reacted 3-16ths.

Prime investment issues of home orporations were dull and again moved in a narrow range.

Australian bonds resumed their comeback. The government 5s rallied 4 points, and Brisbane City. and New South Wales firmed. South
American loans generally improved.

Earnings.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The effect of the 1930 depression and drouth on the farm implement business was reflected in the annual report of the International Harvester Company made public today.

Net earnings for 1930 were given as $25,—703,191, equal to $4.55 a share on the common stock, leaving a margin of $2.05 above the $2.50 annual dividend rate. For the previous year the company reported net profit of $33,779,908, or $7.11 a common share.

Herbert F. Perkins, president, said that while favorable conditions continued in the farm implement business during the early part of 1930, the world-wide business depression reduced the volume of business and earnings during the latter part of the year, and that the severe drouth of last waters and fall also adversely affected and fall also adversely affected hington Pump & Machinery Corpora-nd subsidiaries reported 1930 net in-qual to $8.23 a common share, against a share in the previous year.

Net profit of Midland Steel Products Company for 1030 was $1,271,068, compared with $2,553,424 in 1029.

American-LaFrance & Foamite Corporation and subsidiaries for 1030 reported net eas of $306,206 before charging out $135.-836 for plant rearrangement. moving expense and development. After this charge he loss amounted to $441,029. A non-operating profit of $55,081 derived from pursase of the company's gold notes, less extain adjustments, reduced the net loss or the year to $35,045. For 1020 net rofit of $187,156 was reported.

further advance promoted by firmness in Liverpool and Alexandria was followed by reactions in cotton today under realizing which seemed to be coupled with some southern and local selling. May contracts after advancing to 11.65 at the start or 185 points above the low record of last December, eased off to 11.40 in the late trading and closed at 11.41. The general market closed steady at net de-crimes of 4 to 7 points.

The opening was steady, 14 to 18 points higher on a continuation of the recent buying movement which appeared to be stimulated by firmness of Liverpool and reports of a further advance in Egyptians. March sold up to 11.41 and October to 12.18 on this early demand, which again included some trade buying, particularly from the continent, and was accompanied by private reports of prospects for an early agreement in the Indian disputes. The demand, however, seemed less urgent and aggressive than clines of 4 to 7 points. disputes. had been supplied the market turned easier.

A few additional March notices were issued at the opening, representing about 5,600 bales but appeared to be without much effect on the market as there was very little change in differences between March and later deliveries.

Liverpool cables reported covering, continental, Indian and Japanese buying in that market, and said the larger cotton cloth inquiry for the British home trade and export was maintained. Exports today, 16,329, making 4,911,354 so far this season. Port receipts 36,722. United States port stocks 7,815,652.

HIGHLIGHTS OF WALL STREET

By CHARLES W. STORM. Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—(NANA)
The magnetism of advancing prices has converted many people to the bull side of the stock market. Today it was reported that the last group of the big bears have covered their short commitments and are now taking an optimistic view of the security market for the first time in 18 months. This now makes the bull market unanimous in the Street.

REACTIONARY TENDENCY.

Prices for the most part today displayed a reactionary tendency due to profit-taking sales. Business and trade news was encouraging. Notwithstanding the profit-taking stocks at one time were down from one to twithstanding the profit-taking stocks at one time were down from one to two points, there was at no time any signs of weakness.

MAIL ORDER STOCKS.

Mail order stocks were brought forms with a rush. Montgomery Ward in which a strong group has been accumulating the stock, showed marked activity at an advance of about three and one-half points. Sears, Roebuck was also in greater and urgent demand at an advance of more than three points. Accompanying the increased activity were reports that age gotinations looking to a consolidation of the two companies were under way again. It is claimed that vast economies in operation could be accomplished through a merger of the two likely again. TARZAN, LORD OF THE JUNGLE No. 16

As Tarzan approached, he heard the crashing of underbrush and the voices of men. Bolgani, the gorilla, was fleeing with greater haste than caution. thinking only of escape from the terrifying thun-der-stick of the Tarmangani. Abandoning his usual wariness he hurried through the jungle and chanced to pass directly underneath a tree wherein lay coiled a great python.

snake was disturbed both by the crashing The sounds of pursuit and the roaring voice of Stimbol's rifle. Now, upon the full grown bull-gorilla, the python launched his relentless coils, quickly encircling Bolgani, who strove desperately to tear away the slippery folds. But he was borne to earth beneath a living force that held him helpless.

It was on this scene that Stimbol and Tarzan came at the same moment. Moving as ever silently, the ape-man had remained hidden in the middle foliage whence he looked down upon the tragic scene beneath him. At once he understood the disaster that had overtaken the gorilla. Then he saw Stimbol raise his rifle, intent upon bagging two royal specimens with a single shot.

In Tarzan's heart was no great love for the gorilla. Since his childhood the shaggy man-beasts had been the natural foe of the ape-man and his tribe. But now when he saw the brute hard pressed by two enemies, there rose within Tarzan a sudden pity for the beast fighting without a chance. Before Stimbol could fire his weapon, Tarzan dropped upon his back, felling him to the ground.
